

Concluding remark of the 1st session

Hiroko Takahashi

Professor of Department of History, Faculty of Letters, Nara University

Thank you very much for presentation and thank you for Question from Audience.

I have researched at NARA(United States National Archives and Records Administration) for a long time to know what's happen and how concealed the suffering people caused by the atomic bomb and Nuclear Tests. NARA has important word "Preserving Past to Protect the Future." As Ms. Mori's Opening remarks said, this webinar try to think with lawyers and people from whole world to confront the past and to protect the suffering people and to protect the future by using TPNW. After Five min break, we will start second session "Looking Ahead: The future of victim assistance and environmental remediation – making use of the TPNW and existing international, esp. human rights law"